The DIMMER VIEW

Target—Reverse Discrimination

There are more and more indications that reverse discrimination is upsetting Americans because it is patently unfair.

As one state lawmaker recently said, "You can't correct the problems of past discrimination by discriminating against a new class of people."

The speaker, Assemblyman Stan Statham of Chico, insists that everyone should be considered on his own ability and qualifications. That says the choice should be the best qualified.

"Until we treat all people equally, we will continue to have racial problems," Statham said.

On that basis Statham has authored a Constitutional Amendment prohibiting reverse discrimination. The measure, he said, prohibits the use of quotas or giving preference on the basis of race, sex, creed or ethnic origin.

Statham said he introduced the amendment to eliminate the reverse discrimination that has been generated under the guise of affirmative action.

It would be a good step in the right direction if it works.

Ronald Yank, a San Francisco lawyer who won several reverse discrimination cases against state and local government agencies, testified last week for the amendment.

Yank's most recent case was the successful class action suit brought by the California Correctional Officers Association against the State Department of Corrections for its promotion policy. In another suit, Yank represented the Berkeley Firemen and was responsible for the court throwing out Berkeley's affirmative action plan on the grounds it was discriminatory.

Statham feels that his amendment does not change the existing law but merely clarifies it. "It's clear to me that the Constitution prohibits any form of discrimination now, but some people can't see it. With this amendment, there won't be any question."

Affirmative action programs began in the Sixties as a way of increasing the numbers of women and minorities in jobs and schools. They give preference to these groups even though they may not be as well qualified as others.

Many affirmative action programs have come under fire recently in the courts. The most prominent case is that of Alan Bakke, a white male who was denied admission to the University of California Medical School while several minority students who had lower admission score and grade point averages were admitted under a special program. Bakke sued the University and won in the California Supreme Court; the University has appealed and the case is now before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Statham said it was the Legislature's duty to take a firm position on the question of reverse discrimination. "This is far too important an issue to leave to the courts. The Legislature should make certain there is no misunderstanding in this area."

Candidates Using Utility Poles For Placards are Lawbreakers

Political candidates are reminded that utility poles are off-limits for campaign posters in most parts of the county.

E. J. Brunick, Pacific Telephone general manager, said a county ordinance prohibits placing placards on utility poles in unincorporated areas, while most cities have similar restrictions.

Additionally, Brunick said, PacTel doesn't permit placing signs of any kind, political or otherwise, on its poles because the placards pose safety hazards.

He explained that nails or staples protruding from poles could cause an installation repair technician or outside plant technician to slip or be injured.

Brunick also said that putting signs on utility poles and other private property without permission of the owner is covered under Section 556.1 of the state penal code.

The telephone executive said most candidates are aware of laws governing placement of campaign literature on utility poles although volunteer workers frequently aren't.

"But with the June 6 primary election just around the corner overzealous campaign workers are usually responsible for putting signs on poles and as a rule the candidate is unaware what has happened," Brunick said.

With more than 75,000 telephone poles in the county, Brunick admitted it's difficult to control or monitor the placard problem.

"Although there are laws covering the matter, we're appealing more to the judgment and common sense of candidates and campaign workers than we are relying on the ordinances," Brunick concluded.

Wastewater Reclamation Budget is $ Half Million

San Diego County Supervisor Roger Hedgecock and San Diego City Councilman Larry Stirling announced that the City and County of San Diego have jointly accepted a Grant from the Environmental Protection Agency to perform a countywide wastewater reclamation study. The EPA grant is in the amount of $375,000.

The State will contribute $62,500 and the City and County's share will be $31,250 each for the $500,000 study.

Hedgecock is chairman and Stirling is vice-chairman of a policy committee of elected officials which oversees implementation of the reclamation study.

The study will produce project reports, environmental impact reports and financial plans required by some or all of the 20 reclamation projects recommended by the 208 Area-wide Water Quality Management Plan. The projects could reclaim approximately 50 million gallons a day of sewage and reuse the water in agricultural, landscape and open space areas. The study will take 1½ to 2 years to complete.

Supervisor Hedgecock and Councilman Stirling said this will be a start in reducing our dependence on imported water and will reduce the amount of water washed into the ocean.

Zoning, Parks, Budgets Eyed As City Nears County Cutoff

Only a few weeks remain until the City of Lemon Grove must look unto itself for solutions.

On July 1st, the County of San Diego will have met its commitment to provide services for Lemon Grove for the rest of the fiscal year in which incorporation occurred.

Now the County will turn its attention to the unincorporated areas and will provide to Lemon Grove only the services which the City requests and pays for.

As that day approaches, the council is girding itself for the onslaught of problems that are beginning to come now.

Some of these items surfaced Monday night at the group's regular meeting. James Northrup of 1840 Ensenada st. produced a petition with 60 names pleading for the council to reject a special use permit for the construction of a duplex on an Ensenada street lot, a street which the complainants claimed added to the traffic hazard that exists not only on Ensenada but on Canton dr. as well.

The developer had been given approval for construction when the City reclassified most Lemon Grove land R-1-A after the developer had in hand a permit under R-2-A—the pre-reclassification zoning.

2 Years in Jail Meted to S.V. Men

After a three-day trial at El Cajon Municipal Court a Spring Valley man and his accomplice were found guilty of receiving stolen property and sentenced to two years in prison.

Michael Edward Square, 21, of 9839 Saint George st., Spring Valley, and Richard Lynn Downs of El Cajon had been charged with stealing two vehicles and a tool box and also with receiving that property.

Council went counterwise to the petition and granted the permit after deciding that the problem was that of traffic rather than of zoning. They instructed staff to develop a traffic improvement plan.

Councilmen also faced the problem of having insufficient parks for youth soccer teams. A schedule was worked out for a 6-day-a-week, morning and afternoon schedule for soccer players 9 years of age or less. Witness testified that many Spring Valley youths use the Lemon Grove Park—the only one with a soccer field while there are 2 such fields in Spring Valley. This forces a number of Lemon Grove youths to play on El Cajon teams, it was said.

This brought up the subject of park maintenance and City Manager Jack Shelver noted that $60,000 was recommended by county ($45,000 in 1977) in its suggested budget. Shelver said the work could be done for $27,000 with the aid of CETA (government paid) workers. Vice Mayor Dr. Robert Burns objected to a high-sounding title which had been proposed and urged a foreman-type to be hired with the understanding that he would be required to perform and supervise other maintenance assignments in the city.

Council approved an appropriation of $4,236 for the construction of a building to house the League of California Cities in Sacramento—an assessment that was built in with membership in the League.

Mayor Jim Dorman gave the oath of office to the newly appointed five members of the City's first Planning Commission. Charter members are Lois Heiserman, Warren Buckner, John Stenbeck, Joe Hobbs, and Ben Ela. They will decide among themselves how they will ascertain who serves 1, 2 or 3 years.

City Counsel Donald McLean reported that a court had held that Edco rubbish removal firm, 6670 Federal blvd. was in violation of the City's Zoning laws by being a terminal for more than 9 trucks—the maximum allowed under M zoning.

The City made ready to operate two special districts. The L.G. Sanitation District with its $421,900 budget and the L.G. Lighting District with a budget of $75,245 will be the subject of a public hearing in June. The two districts are self-supporting, Manager Shelver said. The Lighting District tax will be nearly halved from its present 23 cents rate to 12.7. The Sanitation District will remain as it is. The Lighting District reduction comes from a sizeable carry-over of funds from the previous year, Shelver said.

The next council meeting is June 5 at the Community Center on School lane.

Paul Reynolds

Paul Reynolds Retires From L.G. Schools

Paul Reynolds, veteran assistant superintendent of the Lemon Grove School District, has resigned effective June 30.

He has been one of the district's top executives for the past 30 years.

Reynolds said he had no definite future plans except to play tennis and golf—and for to visit his daughter in Scottsdale with his wife Erva.

He said that he told the school board that he thoroughly believes that Lemon Grove is the "greatest school district in the world—if for no other reason than it had successfully graduated his two daughters, Beverly and Barbara."

Reynolds, 59, came to the Lemon Grove District in 1948 from Conover where he served from 1941-1948 in accounting and industrial engineering. The district was just beginning its growth. There was a 4-unit wing at Golden and 12 units at L.G. Junior High. Byron Netzeley was superintendent.

Reynolds was made business manager and promoted to assistant superintendent of business services in 1955.

During his association he became president of the S.D. and Imperial sections of California School Officials Assn. in 1960. He served as state treasurer of the group in 1962 and was conference chairman in 1967.

He was president of the L.G. Kiwanis club in 1965 and put together the Kiwanis Golden Anniversary banquet during his term.

He and his wife attended the Kiwanis International convention in New York that year.

He was instrumental in re-gaining funds from the state in 1970 which he claimed were improperly withheld. The class action suit resulted in the district recovering $110,000.

He also led district employees into formation of a self-insurance program for workers compensation which has saved the district many thousands of dollars.

Assessor Obeys Roll Requirement

County Assessor E. C. Williams released on Monday estimates of the 1978-79 Assessment Roll values to the various governmental agencies who have requested in information.

This was done in compliance with 1973 legislation which is now Section 27421 of the California Government Code which requires the Assessor to furnish assessed values by May 15 for any taxing agency requesting those estimates by February 20 of that year.

A listing of the agencies and total estimates has been forwarded to them.

These estimates may also be invalid in the event either proposition eight or thirteen become law.

Watercourse Ordinance Controls All Land in 100-Year Flood Plain

The County of San Diego's watercourse ordinance has been amended to include all land within the 100-year flood plain.

The Board of Supervisors adopted the amendment with a 4-0 vote. It will take effect June 1, and is designed to provide regulation of areas where flood plain overlay zoning has not been applied. The amendment will meet Federal standards.

Any development application filed with the County on or before April 26, 1978, will be processed under regulations in effect before the new amendment ruling June 1.

Any applications filed after April 26 will be processed under the amended ordinance.

Amendments to the watercourse ordinance improve and clarify all documents dealing with flood plain regulations and provide the Board of Supervisors with the option of applying land use regulations in a manner allowing for various needs in developed and undeveloped areas of the county.

These changes will also make County regulations conform to minimum Federal standards, so the County will remain eligible for the National Flood Insurance Program.

The watercourse ordinance has been a stop-gap ordinance to regulate activities in watercourses not covered by the grading ordinance. Definitions have been modified or added affecting the terms watercourse, 100-year flood, flood plain, floodway, flood plain fringe, substantial improvement, Federal Insurance Administration (FIA) and stream improvements. These changes will require more watercourse permits for review of structures proposed for the flood plains.

Flood way criteria is included, but applies only where flood plain zoning has been applied by the County or where an approved FIA floodway study exists. FIA plans to provide detailed studies in about two years.

Plans for proposed flood control structures will be referred to the assistant chief administrative officer, County Integrated Planning Office, to determine whether a project is consistent with the County's General Plan.

A new filing and plan checking fee system will be established in accordance with Board of Supervisors policy and a procedure for revoking a watercourse permit by Supervisors is included in the ordinance.

Flexible Flood Zoning Ready

The County of San Diego's Zoning Ordinance has been amended to provide greater flexibility in flood plain regulation by changing the flood plain and flood channel overlay zones.

After public hearing, the San Diego County Board of Supervisors voted 3-0 to adopt the ordinance which takes effect May 26.

Amendments to the Zoning Ordinance increase the limit to 50 percent of market value the amount of rebuilding allowed on a partially destroyed structure that does not conform to existing zoning and add a definition of "substantial improvement" to agree with Federal standards to restore partially damaged structures that do not conform with present zoning.

The Zoning Ordinance was also amended to define "floodway" to agree with Federal standards and to clarify conditions where the flood plain and channel zones will be removed in areas no longer subject to flooding.

Conditions were also specified in which flood control structures and facilities can be constructed.

Minor changes to the ordinance include the clarification of zone statements and administrative document number correction.

LOVE LIFE OF A FIREMAN — Merrill Nelson, Kaihy Wachs and Jesse Entreen appear in the musical melodrama 'The Fireman's Flame.' Final performances are scheduled for this week at Monterey Heights Community School auditorium.

'Firemans Flame' Calls for Encore

The inaugural production of the Lemon Grove Players, the community theatre group, drew genuine applause from a full house Friday.

"The Fireman's Flame," a musical melodrama is full of hum-able tunes, vaudevillian olio acts, and sincerest efforts of the performances.

Set in 1890, around the New York volunteer fire companies, actors and dancers led the audience musically and dramatically from rags to riches amid cheers, boo's and hisses. Everyone seemed to enjoy the Old-Time theatre.

A special compliment should be given to the scenery by Terri Simmons, the direction of Dorothe DuBois, and the choreography of Vicki Dietrich.

The stage is inadequate and the stage lighting is almost non-existent, but patrons didn't seem to mind.

Lemon Grove with its own theatre group, is off to a fine start. Performances will be 8 o'clock tonight, Friday and Saturday at the Monterey Heights School Auditorium.

Donation is $1.50 for juniors and senior citizens, and $3 for others.

Final performances, unless popular demand lengthens the schedule, are tonight, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.

Attendance at this first production is a "collector's item" experience, and it is a commendable beginning of something that is sure to grow in the community. If you see the show you will automatically want to attend future presentations.

There's An Answer

by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale

Can't go on

Q. I read in your column about the girl who lost her mother and can't get over the grief.

Well, I am about the same way, only over a husband whom I loved very dearly for 29 years. For 14 years he was in a wheel chair or in bed, and I gave him my life.

I lost him 19 months ago. My last two daughters got married. I've had two cancer surgeries and I feel like I can't go on. I'm just about to the end of everything. Please help me.

A. Your feelings are understandable, and for them we have sympathy. You built your life around your invalid husband and, naturally, when you lost him your life became empty. The two surgical experiences compounded your problem.

The solution is for you to revamp your thinking so that you will not dwell on what you don't have, but what you do have; not on what you have lost, but what you possess.

Sit down with a piece of paper and make a list of everything for which you can be thankful. Do that daily and soon you will find that you can add to the list. Then you will begin to move out of mental darkness into the light.

We have a booklet, "Healing for Loved Ones and for You," which has helped others and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone wishing a free copy may write to us in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Loving man, uncaring husband

Q. My husband is a good man. His only weakness is he puts himself above me and our three children. Everything in our life is the way he wants it to be. He waits until cut-off day to pay the rent or utilities.

We don't buy groceries by the week or month. We do it daily. He won't give me the money to go to the store.

If I want something all I have to do is ask. He gets it. He can be a very loving man, but at times he seems to be very unloving and uncaring. I am completely confused by him and don't know what to do. Please help me.

A. We would suggest that you sit down with your husband and try to show him that you are an efficient home executive, a business woman operating a home, and that you should have a household budget.

Explain that you will make proper financial reports to him but you are not happy running to him like a child every time you want to spend a dime.

Perhaps he will see the reasonableness of your position. He should, and will if he has any business sense.

Am I being punished?

Q. I divorced my first husband for adultery. Nine years later I married another man and divorced him for the same reason. During the nine years between the marriages I had sex with two single men, but I realized my mistake and it never happened again.

Am I being punished for making the mistake, and if I married again would I be living in adultery?

A. We are not punished for our sins, but by them. It is possible that your two husbands practiced adultery because their relationship with you was unsatisfactory. If you marry again you would be well advised to have an analysis made of your personality.

Today counseling resources are available that might help you to understand yourself so that the previous failure might not be repeated.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

HOME-COOKED This Week's RECIPE

Far East Fish Fry

Low-cost, low-calorie and hot weather dishes are what summer eating is all about. Coupled with high protein and short cooking times, North Atlantic Cod or Pollock fillets is both an excellent and fast nutritional source, and also the basis for an exotic meal.

Far East Fish Fry can be prepared in an electric skillet or a top-of-the-stove frying pan. A cardinal rule in fish cookery is, however, that fish is naturally tender and needs only to be cooked for a short time for the protein to coagulate and the flavor to develop: about a minute per side in this recipe should do it.

Far East Fish Fry

- 4-6 Servings
- 1 lb. North Atlantic Cod or Pollock fillets, partially thawed
 - 1 teaspoon minced ginger root
 - 4 tablespoons soy sauce
 - 6 tablespoons oil
 - ½ lb. fresh bean sprouts or 1 (16 oz.) can mixed Chinese vegetables
 - 1 cup celery sliced diagonally
 - 2 tablespoons cornstarch
 - 1 teaspoon sugar
 - ½ cup water (or chicken broth)
 - 1 lb. fresh spinach, washed, drained and crisped
- Cut fillets into 2" strips about ½" wide. Combine ginger and soy sauce and marinate fish 15 minutes. Drain; keep marinade. Heat oil in wok or skillet. Brown fish on both sides, turning carefully.

Helix High Students Win Awards, Show Art

The Helix High School marching band received top honors at the Northern California Band Festival in Fairfield while Helix High Key Club member Scott Demcheck was awarded the Don Walker trophy.

The marching band "Highlanders" won sweepstakes over 40 participating bands throughout California, receiving 299 points out of 300 in showmanship. Their overall score, 95.95, was the highest in the history of the Fairfield parade.

Scott Demcheck won his trophy for most outstanding key clubber by the La Mesa Kiwanis, last awarded in 1973. The presentation took place at the club's installation of officers for 1978-79.

Starting tomorrow, Helix High School students will also exhibit their major art work in an exhibition in the hallways of the County Administration Center, to demonstrate the value of public art in transforming and humanizing an official building.

Two Here Win Graduation Honors

Two area young women will be graduated with honors June 15 and 16 together with more than 4,000 students from the Grossmont Union High School District.

Diana Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bell, and student Lemon Grove, and Janet Aguilar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Aguilar, Spring Valley, are two of the 39 valedictorians—straight "A" students—in the district this year.

Bell is a student of Mt. Miguel High School (total of 2 valedictorians) while Aguilar is the only valedictorian from Monte Vista High School.

Helix High leads the district's schools with 12 valedictorians, followed by Valhalla with 11, El Cajon Valley 5, El Capitan 2, Grossmont 4, Monte Vista 1, Granite Hills 1, Mt. Miguel 2, and Santana 1.

'Dimes' Gives Tips On Prenatal Care

Prenatal care is the main point of attention during Healthy Day Week, the annual education campaign of the San Diego-Imperial chapter of March of Dimes slated for this week.

More than a quarter of a million babies are born in the United States with defects, a March of Dimes spokesman said. He urges expectant mothers to visit physicians early in their pregnancy and have her health checked regularly. Expectant mothers are advised to call the March of Dimes at 284-1168 to find out what prenatal services are available.

Babies is Course Topic

A "Preparation for Parenthood Instructor" course for registered nurses will begin May 22, 9 a.m. at Del Mar ave., Chula Vista.

The one-week course, sponsored by the East County Service Center of the Red Cross, will focus on labor and delivery, prenatal care and care of the newborn. Enrollees will earn 24 contact hours of continuing education (BRN Provider 00296). To register call 426-0442.

Goodbye to Retirees

36 retirees from the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District, representing 674 years of service, will be honored at a "get-together" Monday, 7 to 9 p.m., at the Grossmont Bank, Grossmont Center.

Local Artist Exhibits

18 watercolors by Pauline Eaton, May artist-of-the-month, will be displayed through May 31 in the Corridor Gallery at the San Diego Public Library, 820 E. St.

Eaton, who serves on the board of directors of the San Diego Art Institute, has received numerous awards for her work. Her paintings include aspects of the native American culture and scenes from San Diego.

Padres to Return Mon. For National TV Game

In looking at the San Diego Padres upcoming schedule of games, one almost gets the feeling the people who drew it up had a sadistic streak hidden in them someplace.

It's bad enough that the Padres have to play back-to-back series with the Cincinnati Reds and Los Angeles Dodgers, but the problem is further compounded by the fact the Pads will actually be playing back-to-back home-and-home series with each club.

In other words, the Padres must play the top two clubs in the tough National League Western Division in no less than 13 straight games.

A schedule like this would make even the sturdiest heart quiver a bit and cause a few sleepless nights.

The string of games will begin with the Padres taking their shortest road trip of the season to Cincinnati for 4 games in 3 days with the Reds in Riverfront Stadium. The two clubs will clash in single games on Friday and Saturday, and then conclude things with a Sunday doubleheader.

San Diego's game on Saturday and the first game of the Sunday twin bill will be televised live back to San Diego on TV-6 with Jerry Coleman, Dave Campbell and Jerry Gross calling the action. Game times are 2:30 p.m. and 10:15 a.m. respectively.

The Padres will actually be on TV three days in a row as when the club returns home to begin a six-game home-stand against the Los Angeles Dodgers and Reds, the opener with the Dodgers is slated for national television.

San Diego's meeting with the Dodgers Monday has been selected as the ABC Monday Night Game of the Week. As a result, the starting time for that evening's contest has been moved to 5:40 p.m. from the scheduled 7 p.m.

The Padres will then wrap up the three-game series with Los Angeles with 7 p.m. encounters Tuesday and Wednesday.

The second half of the home-stand will feature the Reds coming in for single games Friday through Sunday, May 26-28. The opening two games will get underway at 7 p.m. with the Sunday finale going at 1 p.m.

Lastly, the Padres will close out that run of 13 straight against the two clubs by visiting Los Angeles for Monday to Wednesday, May 29-31 tiffs.

Padres on TV

Two Padre-Reds games will be televised live by Channel 6 this week-end from Riverfront Stadium in Cincinnati.

Saturday's contest will be carried beginning with a pre-game show at 2:15 while Sunday's will air at 10:15 a.m., preceded by the warm-up.

Channel 6 also announced that the May 30 Dodgers-Reds game will be televised in prime time from Dodger Stadium at 7:30 p.m.

National Net Tourney For Amateurs Only

New York — The first Decade National Amateur Team Tennis Championship, the only major team tournament for amateurs in the United States, will get under way on June 30 at 33 sites throughout the country, it was announced.

The finals of the event, sanctioned by the U.S. Tennis Assn. (U.S.T.A.), will be held in conjunction with the U.S. Open at the new Flushing Meadow tennis complex in New York on September 10.

Each team in the competition will include three men and three women, and is open to players 21 years of age and over.

Two players must be 35 or older. A match will consist of one set each of men's doubles, women's doubles and mixed doubles played under an eight game pro set format. U.S.T.A. rules will be in effect throughout the tournament.

Entry forms are available now at tennis clubs, public courts and product displays in supermarkets and other locations. Entries will close on June 17.

"This tennis concept of having local teams participate on a national level fills a major void in the tennis world. We are pleased that Decade has agreed to sponsor such a program and we feel it will be successful," commented "Slew" Hester, President of U.S.T.A.

K. V. R. Dey, President of Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., said, "Our purpose in sponsoring this tournament is to attract the many thousands of amateur players across the country and get them involved in a program that will showcase their skills, promote team spirit and provide an opportunity to play at the U.S. Open."

Amateur Pit Crews Vie for Race Prizes

RIVERSIDE — The largest auto racing fan participation ever attempted in Southern California will begin this week end at six area oval tracks; it was announced by Les Richter, president of Riverside International Raceway.

Called the NAPA 400 Ingersoll Rand Pit Crew Contest, it will involve spectators who volunteer to come down out of the stands and try their luck at servicing a race car during a mock pit stop.

Weekly contests leading to track championships on June 3 and 4 will be held at Ascot Park in Gardena, Saugus Speedway in Saugus, Orange Show Speedway in San Bernardino, Corona Raceway in Corona, Cajon Speedway in El Cajon and Speedway 117 in Chula Vista.

Track champion crews will then compete against each other for the S-Cal championship during pre-race festivities before the NAPA 400 at Riverside on Sunday, June 11.

Anyone can enter the pit stop contest at his local track except a professional racing mechanic. There is no age limit. Women are eligible to enter, either individually or in teams of five, Richter explained.

Each track will provide its champion crew with racing team uniforms for the finals at Riverside, and Ingersoll Rand will award the six winning teams racing jackets and caps, plus other special prizes. Track champion crews will also be paraded around the 2.62-mile road course during pre-race ceremonies.

Information on how to enter each track's contest and contest rule details are available at the tracks. Contacts are Ben Foote at Ascot Park, Marshall Wilkings at Saugus, Art Atkinson at Orange Show, Tom Lipari at Corona, Earl Brucker at Cajon and Don Basile at Speedway 117.

$10-$15 Range For Tickets for S.D. Holiday Bowl

Tickets for the first annual Holiday Bowl will cost $10 a seat. The announcement was made by Vinnie Vinson, the president of the Bowl Game Assn.

Additionally, there will be a limited amount of $15 tickets. These are located in the press level of San Diego Stadium.

"The ticket prices are in the same range of ticket costs in most bowl games," said Vinson. "We feel that the $10 price range makes the Holiday Bowl a bargain. Since there is not a bad seat in the Stadium, lower levels or the upper deck, fans will get their money's worth."

"There are 1,950 seats available in the press level. These will sell for $15 and are premium locations," he said.

Membership plans will be announced in the near future and these will assure ticket seating priority on a yearly basis.

San Diego State U. is liaison school for the Holiday Bowl and SDSU season ticket holders will have a priority option to purchase Bowl Game tickets.

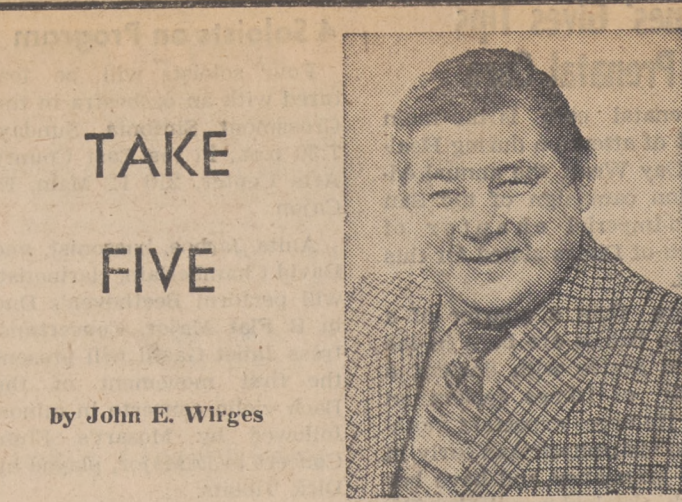

The Holiday Bowl will annually feature the champion of the Western Athletic Conference (WAC) against a major national college football team.

Official charities for the Holiday Bowl are the Institute for Burn Medicine and the San Diego Crippled Children's Hospital and Health Center.

Official date for the game will be selected soon but the contest will be played between December 22 and December 28.

Cool Baron

The cold Pacific stream is called the Humboldt Current after German botanist and explorer Baron Alexander von Humboldt who studied it in the early 1800s.

by John E. Wirges

Susan Garcia-Heng is a thoroughly modern young woman with a nice sense of values and the ability to put things into proper perspective.

She also has the great common sense to take things as they come and the ability to relax under pressure. Not bad qualities for the modern generation . . . or any generation that came before.

Sue has a penchant for adventure. She grew up in Monterey, Calif. and seeing little out of the ordinary after graduation from Seaside High School, she joined the Navy.

And she began to bowl. Not seriously at first, that came later when her average went up and her talent began to establish itself.

The middle 70s were full of happenings for Sue. She joined the Navy in '73, met and married Jose Garcia-Heng in '74 and bowled her way to the All-Navy Tournament in '75.

She missed the All-Navy tourney in '76 when her daughter Brandy came along and she told herself that wasn't going to happen again. And it looks like she's a gal of her word.

Sue is pregnant again. She's in her eighth month. But she's also bowling. And she may take it to the wire.

Two weeks ago Susan Garcia-Heng rolled four 200 plus games and logged a 604 series in the chase for the 11th Naval District Championship. She logged 4148 total pins for the week-long 24 game tourney to capture first place. Last week she won the Pacific Area championship, beating bowling champs from Alaska to Hawaii.

Laurie Slinger, sportscaster on KFMJ-TV, Channel-8 came by the Sea Lanes at the Naval Training Center where the tournament was taking place and interviewed Sue.

"I asked my doctor about bowling," she told Ms. Slinger. "He told me to continue all normal activities. And for me, bowling is a normal activity."

One must suppose that something you do every day is a "normal" activity and during the work-a-day week, Sue doesn't let a day go by without picking up a ball and throwing strikes.

If only the Padre pitchers would do the same, the baseball season might not seem as long.

The Garcia-Heng's are an all-together family. Jose is in college working on the family's future while Susan is taking care of the present and future.

Sue is a career Navy woman, a Storekeeper Second Class stationed in Supply at the Naval Station. She and he husband live "so far in east San Diego, only our zip code keeps us from being official Spring Valley residents," she says.

Her mother is taking care of Brandy while she is off to the All-Navy bowling championships, and she might not be out of a job when the Charleston tourney is over.

Next week the top six bowlers in the All-Navy tourney will journey to Camp Pendleton to roll off against the Army, Marines, Air Force and Coast Guard in the Interservice Bowling Championships.

With just a little bit of luck, Susan will be there. She could be leading the way. Her game is sound enough. She just needs a little cooperation from the Stork.

"If the baby does come early I hope he comes on Saturday," she grinned. "If he does, I'll be ready to bowl on Monday."

Somewhat you get the impression she's only half kidding when she says that.

You feel like tippin' the old fedora to Susan Garcia-Heng and her sisters-in-arms who give you cause for pride in today's Armed Services.

They calmly take on full time jobs as wives and mothers, fulfill all their required duties and earn merit and promotions in a full time military career, then enjoy the keen competition of a varsity sport played in the "open" class level.

In another time, these women would be at their ease moving west with a wagon train or clearing land and building homes in virgin forest country.

In the words of some modern philosopher, Susan and her guy have it all together. And that really says it all.

IVA Play Opens May 30 Breakers Start June 30

The International Volleyball Association opens its fourth season of championship full-time coeducational play on Tuesday, May 30, when the expansion Seattle Smashers play host to the Santa Barbara Spikers, San Diego's Breakers open its season June 3 at Seattle.

The seven-club league once again plays an 18 home match, 18 road match schedule, bolstered by the addition of selected world-class players as well as the return of outstanding players from the 1977 season.

El Paso/Juarez has signed Canadian hitter-blocker Garth Pischke and Mexican national team middle blocker Martin Castillo. San Diego has added middle blocker Fernando de Avila and setter Mario Marcos from Brazil. Denver has inked Spanish star, Miguel Ocon. Seattle has Zbigniew Jasiukiewicz joining former Polish national team colleague Stan Gosciniak. And Tucson has an all-Peruvian backcourt lineup with the signing of Irma Cordero.

El Paso/Juarez has also added the league's only active player from Japan, former Olympic star Aiko Onozawa Schweikert.

From top to bottom as the clubs open camp, the calibre of athletic talent looks vastly improved over the 1977 season when six of the seven clubs had 500 records or better, and the influx of new players made on-court play the best ever to that point.

Orange County, retaining the nucleus of Dodge Parker, Jon Roberts and Robin Irvin, seeks to become the first two-time champion in the IVA. Orange County will compete in the Western Division along with San Diego, Santa Barbara and Seattle.

Super Stock in Fifth Cajon Speedway Show

It will be another busy Saturday night at Cajon Speedway when the popular super stocks hold forth in their 5th show of the season.

A full show of Super Stocks, a powder puff race and the first of 3 nights of the Ingersoll-Rand Pit Crew contest will be featured in the show which gets underway with qualifying at 6:30.

The super stocks will do battle in a nine race show with two-trophy dashes, four 8-lap heat races, a 10-lap consolation, a 20-lap B main, and a 40-lap main event. The women will have their second 10-lap event of the season.

The pit crew contest is being held in conjunction with Riverside International Raceway's NAPA 400 mile Grand National Stock Car race next month. The contest is open to non professional pit crews and local teams Saturday night will be headed by Scott Stovall, Dean Dlouhy and female Jean Birmingham.

But the feature attraction Saturday night will be the men's 40-lap main event. Last week Larry Lyon of Santee came home in front to claim is first ever main event win. Lyon will be hoping for continued good luck, but he will have plenty of stiff competition.

New Sponsor For U.S. Grand Prix

America's most famous motocross race, the United States 500cc Motocross Grand Prix, is scheduled for its 8th annual running at Carlsbad Raceway in S-Cal on June 4th and the 1978 event will feature a brand new sponsor. The Bel-Ray Oil Company, a brand leader in the motorcycle lubrication field.

The Bel-Ray U.S. Grand Prix will be the 7th round of the 12-race 500cc world championship series, with the U.S. round coming at the very crucial half way mark between the Swedish Grand Prix May 28th and the Italian Grand Prix on June 11.

The big question mark this year is whether or not American riders can break the 8-year domination of the event by the Europeans. Last year Jim Pomeroy of Yakima, Washington, became the first U.S. rider to win a moto, but he crashed at the start of the second race and saw his chances of overall victory disappear.

Dutchman Gerritt Wolsink, riding a factory Suzuki, went on to win his unprecedented fourth consecutive U.S. Grand Prix, but admitted afterwards that 1978 could well see the end of his run of wins and a possible U.S. victory. The battle between the factory teams is equally fierce, with over 100 fully supported teams competing.

Peter McNab Named to Hoc San Diego List

Two amateurs, diving ace Greg Louganis and versatile track and field performer Kathy Devine, have been named along with a pair of professionals, golfer Lon Hinkle and ice hockey player Peter McNab as April Stars of the Month by the San Diego Hall of Champions Breitbard Athletic Awards Committee.

They were among a number of strong nominees from this area who produced exceptional efforts in a variety of sports during the month, and all attracted notice on the national level.

Louganis, the former Valhalla High student who won a silver medal in the 10-meter platform diving at the 1976 Olympics, returned from a long layoff to capture both the one-meter and 10-meter titles in the National AAU indoor championship and repeated off the high board in the International Swimming Hall of Fame classic later in April.

Devine, a CIF champ when she attended Mission Bay High, now is a junior at Emporia State U., and in recent Kansas Relays she took the women's division shot put, discus and javelin events. In doing so she bettered her own intercollegiate shot record with a toss of 53 feet, 3 3/4 inches.

A San Diego State graduate, Hinkle topped the $10,000 mark in golf winnings when he wrapped up the New Orleans Open, breaking out of a 5-man deadlock with a final round 66 and a 72-hole total of 271. He pocketed the winner's share, $40,000 and ended the streak of South Africa's Gary Player, who was bidding for his fourth straight tourney victory.

McNab, who played on junior hockey teams here when his father, Max McNab, was general manager of the San Diego Gulls, climaxed his season in the National League by scoring 41 goals from his center position with the Boston Bruins, plus 39 assists to help his team take the Eastern Division and advance into the playoffs.

Soccers Salute Armed Forces Saturday Night

It'll be Armed Forces Night at San Diego Stadium when the San Diego Sockers meet the Detroit Express in a North American Soccer League game at 7 p.m.

The game will be broadcast live on KOGO radio (600 AM) with Joe Starkey and George Logan calling the action.

In a preliminary soccer game at 5:15 it will be Navy versus Marine Corps as the Amphibious Underwater Demolition Team play the highly regarded Marine squad from Camp Pendleton.

With stadium gates opening at 5 p.m., soccer fans will have numerous military displays and equipment to inspect before the Sockers seek to avenge an early-season loss to Detroit at the Silverdome.

In the pre-game festivities, the Color Guard will be from the Fleet Marine Force. Recruits from the Naval Training Command and the Marine Corps Recruiting Depot will be special guests of the Sockers.

Halftime entertainment will be provided by the world's champion frisbee-catching dog, Ashley Whippet. A special competition will take place between Ashley, Leaping Luke, and Hyper Hank, based on catching a frisbee thrown for distance.

The Detroit Express was the first team to defeat the Sockers in 1978, breaking San Diego's four-game winning streak. Detroit currently leads the American Conference-Central Division, and features one of the NASL's most dangerous scorers in '77 scoring champion Steve David.

Ray Cook, Chevy; The Pair to Beat

The way Roy Cook Jr. is going these nights in his Chevy II-powered car it would appear he might have another championship wrapped up by July.

But there are several midget auto opponents who might give argument to that notion and they'll attempt to prove it Saturday night when the mighty cars of the U.S. Racing Club make their second appearance on the quarter-mile dirt oval at South Bay Park's Speedway 117.

Gates open at 6 p.m. and time trials will begin at 7. The first of two trophy dashes is scheduled for an 8 p.m. start. The midgets will share the program with the street stockers from the South Bay Racing Association.

Cook, of Redlands, had won 3 straight features going into this week's Santa Maria show, the first South Bay race and twice at the Orange Show Speedway. In all, Cook has a career main event victory record of 27. He still trails the all-time winner, Danny McKnight, who has posted 46 wins.

In the last show at South Bay, Cook finally caught pace-setting Mike Gehringer of Anaheim, on the 13th lap and won by five car lengths. Gehringer is the only other main event winner this season, taking the feature at Las Vegas two months ago.

Meanwhile, Russ Roberson of Imperial Beach and Norb Wolf of San Diego will continue their battle for the street stock championship.

Bobby Chacon Heads Coliseum Card Friday

World-rated junior-light-weight Bobby Chacon will headline the boxing card Friday at the Coliseum in downtown S.D.

Chacon with a record of 40 wins of which 37 were over the KO route, has knocked out Little Red Lopez for the featherweight title and holds a win over Ruben Alivares.

His opponent Friday is the Baja California junior light-weight champion, Ignacio Negro Campos who has 32 wins of which 23 were KOs. Both fighters have lost but two scraps.

Campos has won 3 consecutive fights at the Coliseum.

The winner will probably get a shot at the WBA junior lightweight titleholder, Sammy Serrano of Puerto Rico.

A sell-out crowd is anticipated by promoter Danny Millsap. Ernie Fuentes is matchmaker.

5 other bouts undergird the card. Bert Lee of Campo fights Mario Neri of L.A. in a 6-round welterweight affair.

'Handsome Matador' Wins Solid Gold Rose

SPECIAL DISPATCH — Antonio Lomelin, for the second consecutive year, won the solid gold "Mexicali Rose" trophy Saturday at the Calafia bullring.

Hundreds of California visitors who crossed the border at Calexico to see the final bullfight of the season found themselves part of the city's 75th anniversary.

Because of its desert climate Mexicali's bullfight season is in the winter, ending as the Tijuana season begins.

Of this year's seven contenders, the favorites were Lomelin, Mariano Ramos, who has won more awards than any other matador in Mexico during the past year, and Manolo Martinez.

Lomelin, the six-foot matador who moves like a ballet dancer, is called by the Mexican press, "the sex symbol from Acapulco" and "the handsomest matador in the world."

Wearing a white "suit of lights" encrusted with gold braid and sequins, he performed superbly, placing his own banderillas, creating magnificent tableaux with the big gold and magenta cape, controlling the bull with a variety of passes with the small red serge muleta, and killing with a single sword thrust.

Lomelin is scheduled to appear in El Toreo, the downtown bullring, in Tijuana on one or more Sundays in July. V.I.E.

Breakers Sign David Schakel

David Schakel, a 3-year veteran of the International Volleyball Assn., has signed a one year contract with the San Diego Breakers.

Schakel will join other hit-blockers Miles Pabst, Bob Stafford and Dan Brady.

A graduate of Ball State U., Schakel began his pro career with the El Paso/Juarez Sol in 1975. He was sought out by the Tucson Sky for the IVA's second season and last year he joined the Santa Barbara Spikers.

"Shake" participated at the World University Games in Moscow in 1973, the World Volleyball Championships in Mexico City in 1974 and he was named to the NCAA All-Tournament first team his final year of college, 1973.

Breakers' player-coach Miles Pabst. "I'm excited to have Dave. He's been here all week working out with me, but I wasn't until I saw him at try-outs on Sunday that I was really convinced. He had a great year last season, in fact it was probably the best year of his career and I think he can carry it over.

"I was looking at one other player very seriously. He has a lot of potential, but I think Dave's experience will come through for us. I expect that when he and Bob (Stafford) combine on the block, it will be awesome."

In the off-season Schakel has been head coach for the women's volleyball team at A & M U. in Texas. Still a newlywed, Schakel plans to San Diego with his wife, Charlene, by the time training camp opens on May 15.

A second 6-round welter-weight match is between Nando Luugo, S.D. and Juan Baez of Bogota, Columbia.

Elliott Brynat of S.D. faces Rick Mills of Hollywood in a 4-round heavyweight meeting.

Doug Hinton, S.D. goes against Robert Wilcott of Riverside in a 4-round welter-weight match.

Eric Bonilla of Paradise Hills takes on Clinton Campbell of San Bernardino for 4 rounds. They're junior welter-weights.

The gong sounds at 8:15. The Coliseum is at 15th and E sts.

Reservations may be made at 233-4664.

Golden Will Seek To Unseat Wilson

King Golden, a San Diego attorney, who stepped down as temporary president of the board of directors of Seniors Marketing Inc. (SCOOP), is now going full tilt in his race for Bob Wilson's Congressional seat in the 41st District.

SCOOP is a non-profit cor-

Candidate King Golden

poration designed to distribute low-cost food to San Diego's senior citizens. Presently, it serves 7,000 seniors a month.

King's resignation was planned. SCOOP's charter, which Golden helped draft, specifies that no member of the board shall be more than 50 years of age. He is 31.

In 1976 Golden, a Democrat, ran for Congress against the heavily favored Republican. He won nearly 100,000 votes—more than 42% of the total, a surprising total against a 26-year incumbent.

In the same year he won the National Jaycee's award as the "Outstanding Young Man of America," given to those who have made a commitment to America's present and future and who deserve recognition for their effort.

If successful, Golden would attempt to limit terms in Congress to 10 years. "Incumbency," he said, "has the advantage of creating perpetuity." Golden served on the staff of Senator Edmund Muskie's presidential campaign for two years.

He charges that Rep. Bob Wilson attempts to have Balboa Park land condemned for a new hospital. San Diego's charter, he says, provides for voters to make that decision—not politicians.

Golden says he will depend on private contributors for campaign funds. It makes for a smaller fund but a better one, he says. "I won the 1976 primary on a $6,000 budget," Golden recalls. "Private money gives citizens the best government money can buy," he said.

Early California Days Return At Fiesta de la Primavera

The 9th Annual Old Town Fiesta de la Primavera—the Festival of Spring—celebrating the birthplace of San Diego and the State of California will be Thursday through Sunday, May 18-21 in the State Historical Park in the heart of Old Town.

The Fiesta offers an opportunity for visitors to relive the early days of California history through daily tours of historic buildings by State Rangers, live entertainment, and handicrafts symbolic of settler days.

Included among the main attractions during the 4 days of the Fiesta are:

A buffalo barbecue in which 4,000 lbs. of meat along with 320 lbs. of beans, 6,000 tortillas and 10 gallons of home made salsa, will be consumed on the grounds of the Old Town Catholic Church, 2500 San Diego ave. A 30' x 8' deep barbecue pit, lined with rocks and filled with coals, will house 4 buffalo for 24 hours until Chef Pierre Grandgirard completes preparations for the feast.

Original historical vignettes, produced and acted by the San Diego On Stage players, will be performed daily at 1 and 3:30 p.m. opposite the Bandini House. The plays depict the earliest encounters of the Spanish and Indians in California, and early life from the time of the Spanish Dons to American pioneer settlement.

One of the most popular events, the old time fiddle and banjo contest, will be held at Squibob Square Saturday at 11 a.m. $400 in cash prizes, for divisions such as traditional banjo, bluegrass banjo, fiddle and old-time bajno, will attract local musicians. Contestants should call Louis Curtis at 282-7833.

Iron Eyes Cody, known for his American Beautiful TV commercials as the crying Indian concerned with ecology, will appear at the Fiesta at 2 p.m. Sunday. Cody has appeared in more than 200 motion pictures. Entertainment of Friday includes Mexican folklo-

'ELP' Spells Environment

May has been declared "Environmental Month" at all 147 field offices of the California Department of Motor Vehicles to call to the attention of the state's motorists DMV's role in encouraging protection and preservation of the environment through sale of personalized license plates.

All DMV offices throughout the state are displaying promotional posters for the Environmental License Plate (ELP) program. Some offices have prepared lobby exhibits stressing ecology themes, and other offices are staffing nature-theme booths at community fairs.

Several area offices had speakers appearing before service clubs, chambers of commerce and announcements on local radio stations.

The displays and exhibits focus on promotion of the new seven-character ELPs available July 1 as the result of recent legislation. The plates have been limited to a maximum of six characters (minimum of two) since the program began in 1970.

Funds from the sale of the license plates go into the California Environmental Protection Fund for allocation to various agencies in support of a variety of projects.

Cost of the plates is $25 with the original application, $10 per annual renewal, and $12 when a plate is transferred from one vehicle to another. The charges are in addition to the regular registration fee.

Employers to Post Labor Regulations

Employers, responsible to inform their workers on labor laws, are required by the State Labor Code to post labor regulations in visible spots at work spaces.

Such notices include "Wages, Hours and Working Conditions," "Discrimination in Employment Is Prohibited by Law," "Safety and Health Protection on the Job" and "Pay Day Notice."

All regulations are available as posters, some in English, Spanish and Chinese. They can be ordered from the Office of Information, Department of Industrial Relations, P.O. Box 603, San Francisco 94101.

MVD Rejects Prop. 13; Supports Prop. 8

The Board of Directors of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California has supported passage of Propositions, which will be on the June ballot, grant tax relief to homeowners. The board favored Proposition 8 which "offers substantial property tax relief for homeowners without the problems that would be created if Proposition 13 is approved by the voters," a spokesman said.

MVD counsel Will told the board that passage of Proposition 13 would prevent Metropolitan from levying taxes or issuing general obligation bonds to rebuild facilities damaged in disasters. He added that Prop. 13 would prevent MVD from seeking authorization to issue new general obligation bonds and from levying any taxes for general purposes.

Community Helps Dream Come True

Dear Editor:

Five years ago the Miguel Community Aquatic Center was a dream. On Friday, May 19, at 9:30 a.m., that dream will become a reality when the groundbreaking ceremonies are held at Mount Miguel High School.

The Aquatic Center, which will serve the communities of Spring Valley and Lemon Grove, is designed to meet the needs of all residents of our area. Provision for instruction, competition and recreation for all ages — from preschoolers to senior citizens, as well as the handicapped — are included in the Aquatic Center plan.

Please allow us to thank each of you who has worked so hard to make the Aquatic Center a reality. Special thanks to those who served on the Miguel Aquatic Committee, the groups of parents, the swim teams, recreation departments, the local news media, Lemon Grove City Council, The Grossmont District Governing Board, and YOU, the citizens of Lemon Grove and Spring Valley, whose continued support over these past five years has helped bring us to this happy moment.

We hope you will join us at Mount Miguel on Friday, May 19, at 9:30 a.m.

Thanks for Support

Dear Editor:

Thanks for endorsing Plain Talk Charter.

Much has been said and written lately about the need to write government documents in plain language. In San Diego County, we voters have the chance to do something about it by voting for Proposition A, the Plain Talk Charter, on the June ballot.

The existing County Charter, at 14,000 words, is the longest charter in the state. It has been amended 160 times. It is full of unnecessary detail and contradictions. It is disorganized and almost unreadable.

In clear contrast to the existing charter is the Plain Talk Charter, Proposition A. The Plain Talk Charter makes no changes in the meaning or intent of the existing charter, yet it is less than half as long. The Plain Talk Charter eliminates outdated language, "legalese", and provisions that are covered by other law. In short, it makes county government understandable.

Proposition A has already been endorsed by the San Diego Taxpayers Association, the San Diego Labor Council, the County Bar Association, the Chambers of Commerce of San Diego and La Mesa, the City of San Marcos, the County Board of Supervisors, the League of Women Voters, the San Diego Union, and many other groups and individuals. On the other hand, no argument against the Plain Talk Charter was submitted for the ballot.

Proposition A, the Plain Talk Charter, will have no effect on taxes, but it will help us understand what our county government is doing.

I urge your readers to vote "yes" on Proposition A.

Prop 13 Error Noted

The Secretary of State has notified the office of the Registrar of Voters of S.D. County that the English version of the short title and summary of Proposition 13 for the June 6, 1978, Primary Election is incorrect on the sample and official ballots in San Diego County.

The corrected short title and summary as ordered by the Sacramento County Superior Court are as follows:

"TAX LIMITATION — INITIATIVE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT."

Limits realty tax to 1%; increases to 2%. Imposes 2/3 voting requirement on new taxes. Financial impact: Commencing with fiscal year beginning July 1, 1978, would result in annual losses of local government property tax revenues (approximately $7 billion in 1978-79 fiscal year), reduction in annual state costs (approximately $600 million in 1978-79 fiscal year), and restriction on future ability of local governments to finance capital construction by sale of general obligation bonds."

The correct full title and summary of Proposition 13 will be posted in the voting booth on election day and are printed in the California Voters Pamphlet.

The public is urged to read all of the information supplied in the California Voters Pamphlet.

Free Counseling, Rec, Tutoring Is SV Social Service Group Offer

The Spring Valley Youth and Family Service (SVY&FS) is 3 months old but it is beginning to strain its seams. It is a bridge which connects youngsters 10-19 with their families and brings youngsters back into the normal flow of society.

Operating on a 1978 grant of $87,160 services are provided from its headquarters at 3528 Bancroft dr. Services include counseling, recreation, tutoring and community development.

As important as any is the group's outreach program where some of the 10 personnel go into skateboard centers, schools, public laundries, homes on a door-to-door basis, and anywhere youngsters congregate.

According to Michele Serra, Community Development Specialist, the need is not restricted to low income families nor families where one parent is missing. The need goes through all levels and any residents may obtain services.

Marleen Norman, counseling co-ordinator for the organization, said that 75 tutoring and counseling sessions a week are held on a one-to-one basis. 40-50 youngsters a day take advantage of the group's recreational and training programs daily.

The Bancroft dr. facility is open 10 a.m. - 8 p.m. daily. All services emanate from that location although it is a joint venture with EPIC of Lemon Grove for Progress of San Diego.

"There are 48,000 persons in Spring Valley and there is a recreation program in the southern section," Serra noted. The S.V. Park & Rec. District

FedMart Food Prices Lowest Says CalPIRG

When the California Public Interest Research Group (CalPIRG) released its 15th consecutive food price survey a few days ago, it stated Fedmart continues to be San Diego County's least expensive overall store to shop. Gemco ranked second and was only 1.7% more expensive than Fedmart. Alpha Beta was the most expensive food chain, and on the average prices were 12.7% higher at Alpha Beta than Fedmart.

Some 150 items were surveyed over a three day period March 31-April 2). These items included name brand and store brand products, and represent the market basket of the average consumer. The 8 major San Diego grocery chains were surveyed through a representative sample of 41 stores.

The CalPIRG Food Survey is designed so that shoppers can make comparisons between chains for food categories as well as an overall comparison. According to Miles Frieden, CalPIRG Co-Director, "the CalPIRG food surveys have been compiled for six years and have saved San Diego consumers thousands of dollars. Knowing how prices at different grocery stores compare for the same item and shopping accordingly, consumers can make informed choices and as a group may influence the higher pricing practices of certain stores."

In overall comparisons, Fedmart ranked cheapest, followed by Gemco, Food Basket, Vons, Safeway, Big Bear, Mayfair, and Alpha Beta.

In the individual food categories, Fedmart was the cheapest store for meats, dairy and produce. Gemco was the cheapest for frozen food, staples, and processed fruits and vegetables. Mayfair was the cheapest for bakery and cereals. Vons and Alpha Beta tied as the cheapest for miscellaneous prepared food. Food Basket was the cheapest for beverages. Vons was is a property-tax funded operation and has been very successful. SVY&FS wants to provide recreation where no program presently exists, as well as keeping up programs for which a need has been shown. Youngsters 10-19 is the target area, she reminded.

Is the program effective? According to Norman it is.

She cites a 16-year old marijuana-smoking boy who had all the problems that could be squeezed into a youngster.

"We gave him the amount of counseling he would accept; got him to take part in the recreation programs. In less than 8 weeks he was permitted back in school, got a job, his behavior became more responsible, his appearance improved and he became neater appearing."

"He became interested in carpentry and now he does some repair work around the office," she said.

"The program is going well," she said. "Funds have been allocated for next year and unless things change drastically, we can see two years of our program being established."

"Counseling is available to all families of the area either in groups or as individuals. The service is free and confidential," Serra said.

"Our community development programs are doing well, too," she said. "In these programs we attempt to get businesses, organizations, and individuals together to help solve community problems that are analogous to Spring Valley," she said.

"Our most effective programs are the field trips and workshops. The trips are popular and several youngsters have been placed in useful jobs as a result of our training."

"Our effort will have a greater impact on community improvement than any past program that we know of," Norman said.

"Our tutoring programs are bringing youths to a higher level of community usefulness than we anticipated."

Lois Tyner Bodle

Lois Bodle's Hat in Ring For Congress

Democrat Lois Tyner Bodle, 55, who challenged U.S. Senator John Tunney in 1976, is running against Congressman Lionel Van Deerlin in the upcoming election for his 42nd District seat in the House of Representatives.

Bodle, a 13-year resident of Chula Vista, is a teacher of American Government and History.

A strong believer in the U.S. Constitution and its proper application to present and pressing political problems, Bodle demands a reassessment of Congressional fiscal policies.

Her 7-point campaign program stresses the importance of fair taxation of income and property, the termination of deficit spending and the return of the Federal Reserve Board, which, she claims, is federal in name only, to federal ownership.

Central to Bodle's belief in the constitutionally-anchored powers of Congress, is her insistence on repealing the Post Office Reorganization Act of 1970, to take the Post Office out of private hands and to place it back under government control.

Her goal is to lower the fees for letters to 3 cents and postcards to a penny. "High postal rates hurt business," she says.

In terms of locally salient problems, Bodle vows to protect the U.S. Tuna Industry and establish a formula to end the problem of illegal aliens. "I hold with John Locke and Thomas Jefferson that the fundamental function of Government is to protect property and individual rights," Bodle said.

To that end, "national government must take its fingers out of every pie." Excessive national borrowing, unequal taxes and wasted money will be her main targets.

Bodle received her schooling in Wheaton College, College of William and Mary, Gordon College, SDSU and a number of other colleges throughout the country.

She is a member of numerous professional and community organizations, among them the San Diego Fine Arts Society, American Assn. of University Women, California Teachers Assn. and the National Education Assn.

Bodle has cross-filed her candidacy. Republican voters may write in her name, she said.

Question:

The law regarding U-turns was changed a couple of years ago and I am still confused about where U-turns are legal. Can you clear this up for me?

Answer:

Generally U-turns are permitted unless prohibited by a sign.

The following is a list of where U-turns are prohibited (even though a sign may not be present):

— in a business district, except at intersections or on a divided highway except where an opening exists, — in a residential district where any vehicle is approaching from either direction within 200 feet.

— in front of a driveway entrance or approach to any fire station.

In addition, no person shall make a U-turn upon any highway where the driver of such vehicle does not have an unobstructed view for 200 feet in both directions along the highway and of any traffic thereon.

Maddy Loses Backers Says Ed Davis Group

The first agricultural support group for Ken Maddy has rejected Maddy's candidacy for Governor and threw their full support to Ed Davis, at a Sacramento Capitol press conference last week, according to officials of the Ed Davis for Governor organization.

The San Joaquin Nisei Farmers, who provided the original impetus for Maddy's entry into the governor's race and who founded the Agricultural Friends of Maddy, sharply criticized Maddy for his "public opposition to the Jarvis Initiative and recent news reports concerning members of his staff with the Mexican Mafia which have critically damaged his campaign."

In a statement by Mamoru "Mum" Yamaichi of Westley in Stanislaus County, president of the San Joaquin Nisei

Sankey Wins Press Support

Iris G. Sankey, who is seeking to retain her seat on the State Board of Equalization, District 2, has been endorsed by a San Diego Evening Tribune columnist, it was announced this week by the candidate.

In endorsing Sankey, Joe Stern, the Tribune's senior citizen columnist, wrote her, "I have a very special interest in the plight of the senior citizen. Because senior citizens must live on fixed incomes, the ravages of inflation are felt immediately and strongly by them. You have spoken strongly on those issues that affect senior citizens—housing, health care, income transportation and employment—and it with pleasure that I offer you my endorsement."

Sankey is campaigning for the Democratic nomination in the June 6 primary.

Sankey's State Board of Equalization district covers the counties of San Diego, Imperial, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, Kern, Kings, Tulare, and Fresno.

Home Fed Hits 60

Home Federal Savings and Loan of San Diego has reached the "60 mark" in approved office locations in California, President Kim Fletcher has announced.

Applications to establish an Orange County branch office in the Community of Leisure World and a limited facility branch office in National City have been approved by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. These new locations will mark the 59th and 60th branch offices for Home Federal.

Home Federal is currently the 3rd largest federal and the 7th largest savings and loan assn. in the nation with assets of over $3 billion, Fletcher said. Founded in 1934, Home Federal serves California's largest population centers with a statewide branch system boasting offices from the Mexican border to the northern wine country.

Home Federal opened its first branch in 1956 when the North Park office was established in San Diego. Since then, growth has been phenomenal. In 1977, alone, 8 branch offices were opened, extending Home Federal's services throughout California.
